ONAL BANK OF NATIONAL BANK OF WASHINGTON, D. C.
At a special meeting of the board of directors, held this 11th day of January, 1900, the following were adouted: held this 11th day of January, 1800, the following were adopted:

The board has learned with sorrow of the death of John Willey, an employe of the bank for over half a century, having been appointed November 20, 1849. His long service was characterized throughout by faithfulness, intelligence, industry and integrity. As a testimonial of the respect in which his memory is held by the directors of the bank it is resolved that a copy of these proceedings be entered on the minutes of the bank and transmitted to the family of the deceased.

And further, that we attend the funeral of the deceased in a body.

WEEK ENDING JANUARY 13, 1900

policy toward the Philippines occurred in the Senate; Senator Beveridge delivered a speech emphatically declaring for the policy of expansion; he was answered by Senator Hoar; Senator Pettigrew charged the President with maneuvering in the Luzon war for political advantage; in both houses of Congress eulogies on the late Vice President Hobart were delivered. Secretary Gage submitted his reply to the resolution of inquiry passed by the two houses respecting his dealings with the National City and the Hanover National Banks of New York; Representative Sulzer introduced a resolution providing for an investigation of the Secretary's conduct. The House committee on interstate and foreign commerce ordered a favorable report on the Hepburn bill for the construction of the Nicaraguan canal by this government, appropriating $140,000,000; Rear Admiral Walker, retired, president of the canal commission, was reported as having declared in an interview at Kingston, Jamaica, that the sentiment in the United States favored the partnership of England and the United States in constructing and maintaining the canal. The State Department was notified that the government at London had ordered the release of the flour seized at Delagoa bay by British cruisers and that it did not consider food stuffs contraband of war unless directly consigned to the enemy. Geo. less directly consigned to the enemy.

K. Nash and John Walter Smith were K. Nash and John Walter Smith were inaugurated as governors of Ohio and Maryland, respectively; Gov. Smith's resignation as a member of the House of Representatives was presented to the House. Eilhu Root, Secretary of War, announced in a letter that he had no desire to enter the campaign for the vice presidential nomination. W. J. Bryan delivered a speech at the Jackson day banquet at Omaha and scored the administration's Philippine policy. The governorship contest in Kentucky scored the administration's Philippine policy. The governorship contest in Kentucky assumed a serious phase, with possibilities for bloodshed; Governor Taylor entered a protest against the composition of the house committee on contest and was overruied; it was announced that W. J. Bryan had written a letter to Mr. Goebel urging the abandonment of the contest. J. C. S. Blackburn was elected United States Senator by the Kentucky legislature in Joint session, the republican candidate be-C. S. Blackburn was elected United States Senator by the Kentucky legislature in joint session, the republican candidate being former Gov. Bradley. Active operations were reported by Gen. Otis in the southern part of Luzon, the insurgents being attacked and dispersed at several points, with heavy native losses; an outbreak of bubonic plague was reported from Manila; Lieut. Gillmore and the other American prisoners rescued from the insurgents arrived at Manila. Governor General Wood, at Havana, suspended from office Senor Frederico Mora, supreme court fiscal of Cuba. The New York residence of Joseph Pulitzer, editor of the World, was destroyed by fire, two lives being lost. An unknown steamer went ashore afire off the coast of Newfoundland, and, according to latest reports, all hands were lost. An outburst of public indignation at St. Louis over the inaction of the city house of delegates in the matter of certain local measures culminated in a riot in the chamber, after which the body passed the desired bills. Dr. Edward McGlynn, the noted single-tax priest, died at Newburg, N. Y.
